

Truth School • 2018
~Oklahoma~
Consecration Agreement and
Special Fellowship for Workers-in-Training (WITs)

Every year the Truth School has been a time of enjoying the riches of Christ in an atmosphere of pleasant labor in the Lord. We have learned that this kind of corporate experience of the Spirit comes out of much prayer, the release of our Lord's Word, the exercise of the spirit, and the firm restriction of the flesh. Therefore, we hope that all WITs would spend some time with the Lord to consecrate themselves and their service to the Lord. The ten days of Truth School are an important time to shepherd and care for those who are younger than you. Because of your age, the younger ones look to you as patterns, thus making you one of the best people to reach and influence them. Because of this fact, we appreciate your willingness to serve the Lord, the church and the young people.

As a WIT, you are transitioning from being a young person into the role of a serving one. We expect that you will cultivate a loving and shepherding relationship as a serving one with the young ones, without preference. While we expect you will maintain a loving and shepherding relationship between the young ones and yourself, there will be a clear distinction. Primarily, the difference this year is that we will ask you to bear some responsibility and to uphold and maintain the standard of the Truth School. You will be asked to co-labor with some older serving ones and with some college students in both practical and spiritual matters. These saints will help you to pray through and to get adjusted to what may be a slightly awkward transition. They are available to you for your support including prayer and fellowship. Your experience and coordination with the saints will be priceless.

Your main function related to upholding the standard is to come under the Truth School rules yourself, such as:

- Exercising your spirit and fully participating in all the Truth School activities, meetings and group times
- Helping to clean and serve with a positive spirit and attitude
- Maintaining the dress code. The young people will follow you as a pattern; what we are is more important than what we say.
- Not bringing items to Truth School that we ask the young people not to have, i.e. iPods, video games, rubix cubes, fidget spinners or any item that will distract the young people from the main purpose of being here. To be a profitable shepherd, try your best to guard and maintain your testimony. The brothers and older saints will administer discipline. This is not your portion, nor do we expect you to bear that burden.
- Please plan on attending the worker orientation meeting on Monday, 7/23, at 4:00pm.

Your main responsibility will be exercising your spirit during group times, helping the young people to function, and assisting the young people as they memorize their verses and footnotes (maybe you can do it with them). Your functioning and speaking your enjoyment will stir up the young people's hunger and fan their spirit into flame. This will result in a high and profitable atmosphere. In addition, take time to get to know the young people and be interested in them as an individual and most importantly as your sister or brother. They will respond to your attention.

I have prayed about these matters and agree to participate in the Truth School accordingly:
